Personality Disorders

Personality disorders are estimated to occur in approximately 10% of the population. They frequently are associated with other psychiatric illness. There are 10 separate categories of personality disorders:

- ▶ Antisocial PD – disregard for or violation of rights of others
- ▶ Borderline PD – unstable relationships and self-image; impulsive
- ▶ Paranoid PD – distrust and suspiciousness
- ▶ Schizoid PD – detached; restricted range of emotions
- ▶ Schizotypal PD – eccentric; perception distortions, difficulty with relationships
- ▶ Narcissistic PD – grandiose; need for admiration
- ▶ Histrionic PD – excessively emotional and attention seeking
- ▶ Dependent PD – submissive; excessive need to be taken care of
- ▶ Obsessive /Compulsive PD – preoccupation with control, orderliness, perfection
- ▶ Avoidant PD – social inhibition; overly sensitive

These disorders generally begin in childhood or adolescence and persist through adult life. When the personality trait/behavior is inflexible and causes functional impairment, it is considered to be a Personality Disorder. Schizoid PD and Schizotypal PD (not to be confused with Schizophrenia) have been shown to carry an increased suicide risk.
